2. Terms of the Macromedia scholarship application requirements

All programmes at Macromedia University are subject to tuition fees. Programmes at Macromedia University are not state-subsidised and are therefore financed solely from tuition fees. Macromedia University awards partial scholarships only. The applicant for the Indian-German Friendship Scholarship must be from India and must have applied and be eligible for a programme at Macromedia University. The applicant must be willing to support Macromedia University as student ambassador throughout the entire programme. This includes attending and (co-) organizing events on campus, involvement of student-led initiatives and tutorials, involvement in on-campus activities etc.

In all cases we require an additional motivational statement, describing personal and subject-related qualifications and including details on social activities & volunteering. This motivational statement should outline the willingness of the applicant to support Macromedia University at student events and represent the university as a student ambassador. It is helpful to include a funding plan to explain how the programme will be financed.

3. Other Scholarships

Please make sure that you check all sources of financial support if you need help with funding your degree. India might have several scholarship programmes to support Indian citizens with studying abroad, and student loan schemes are available in many cases from Indian banks.
